

ART AND MUSIC

Some of the Good Things in Store for Norfolk.

Misses Norton and Dillard to Come Again—With College and Conservatory—Operas in Course of Preparation—Faderewsky May Come.

Miss Mary Gray, Professor of Art in the Mary Washington College, has lately introduced an innovation in her study of art as applied to her classes. She has undertaken to carry her class through a course of architecture, sculpture and painting. So much interest has been generated that not only has the class enlarged considerably since its start, but a number of young society ladies, art enthusiasts and artists, have asked and gained, the privilege of joining the class, and the interest in Miss Gray's teaching is proven by the large number of art books, works and reproductions sold in the city in the last few weeks. One store that has placed a very low priced set of reproductions in photograph of famous sculpture, architecture and paintings by the old masters of art, has sold several thousand prints as the result. A series of lectures on the subject matter of the lessons is spoken of as a possibility.

Mr. Williams, Art Professor of the Norfolk Conservatory, is meeting with success in his class, and judging from his attitude the attendance on the spring art exhibition in Norfolk have a treat in store.

That the artistic taste of Norfolk is fast growing general, one need only to study the shop windows, to be assured of. Scarcely can classic Boston show more cheap reproductions of antique art to the like number of stores, and, as a gentleman remarked a few days ago: "Even the children are satisfied only with really artistic cards and advertisements." This speaks well of the future.

The evening with Schumann given by members of the faculty of the Norfolk Conservatory of Music Tuesday, November 28th, proved so eminently satisfactory to all who attended that the faculty have decided to give, every few weeks through the remainder of the season, an evening with some eminent composer. This will be good news to music lovers.

The faculty of Mary Washington College will give during the week before Christmas a musicale, to which only friends of the faculty will be invited, pupils not being included in this invitation.

There have been frequent queries by musicians and lovers of the divine art as to why no organ recitals have been given or indication of any such movement shown, at either Epworth or Christ Churches this season. There is general disappointment at the fact that they have not been revived, as they formed a very attractive and instructive feature of the winter pleasures for two or three seasons.

There will be a pupils' recital at the Norfolk Conservatory of Music next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, to which the admission will be by invitation.

What has become of the Naval Reserves' Band? is a question occasionally heard. The public waits an answer.

Next week will see the church choirs in full practice for special Christmas music. If the usual scale is lived up to there will be enough for all.

Mr. Crowell sang James D. Casey's and George Norton's "Sing Me a Song of the South," at Eastville, last week, and the audience, to use "Billy's" expression, "just went daffy." He scored two encores on it.

It is understood that a movement is on foot to secure an engagement of Faderewsky on his return from his Southern tour. It is to be hoped the venture will pan out a success.

The opera of "Patience," which will be given at the Academy of Music in the near future under the direction of Mrs. DeLussay Berry, is looked forward to with much interest. The best talent of the two cities has been engaged in the principal roles, and a genuine treat is in store for music lovers of this section.

Mr. W. D. Crowell, chorus master of St. Paul's Sunday School, says the children are preparing special music for Christmas, which will be quite elaborate.

The opera of "The Little Hussar," which is to be presented at Elks' Opera House, in Portsmouth, about the middle of January, under the able direction of Mrs. J. B. Shipp, is fast approaching readiness, and the public is eagerly watching for its definite announcement.

Misses Dillard and Norton, who appeared in violin and piano recital at Y. M. C. A. Hall, Thursday night of last week, were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stevens, of Richmond. Some of the patronesses on that occasion were Mrs. E. St. John and Mesdames Fergus Reid, J. Iredell Jenkins, Osborne, W. T. Brooke, Barton Myers, W. H. White, Philip Yeatman, and Misses Margaret Roper, Elizabeth Taylor, Randolph, Ethel Neely, beside a number of others.

In the notice of their recital in Friday's issue, there was used an unfortunate remark. Unfortunate in its not being understood as intended. Miss Dillard need not be modest as her attainments, as they are so evidently of the highest order, that the idea even is absurd. A pupil of Heller, of Berlin, and Ysaye, of Brussels, need be extra modest before no one, and it is only the native modesty and refinement of womanly graces of the charming lady that was referred to. When the violin is in pulse beneath her chin and the bow strikes the strings, the splendid confidence of the finished performer and master of the instrument is instantly appreciable. The modest and charming woman is become a veritable goddess of music. Misses Norton and Dillard expected to come again to Norfolk, and this good news will later be affirmed in regular announcement.

Causes of Loss of Hair

Dr. Sabouraud, the eminent French Dermatologist, says that 93 per cent of hair losses are the results of microbes and the neglect of dandruff. The antiseptication of preparations kills microbes and removes dandruff. Their constant use for a period will, by acting directly on the hair bulbs, furnish nourishment, vitality and growing power to the impoverished roots and hair shafts, resulting in complete restoration.

SHIPPING NOTES

A Barge With a Record Breaking Cargo of Wood.

Captain Cottrell's Trip to Georgetown S. C.—Back from Europe—Accident to Tug—The Weekly Summary of Shipping of the Port.

The big barge John R. King, Hudson & Bro., owners, under charter for New York with pine wood, lies in the stream ready to take her departure, loaded with what probably is the biggest cargo of wood that ever left a Southern port coastwise. She carries 700 cords, which is fully 300 to 325 cords more than ever has been carried before from this port. This is a thing worth making decided note of.

Mr. Walter Brooks, president of the Lake Drummond Canal and Water Company, was in the city yesterday en route to his home, in Baltimore, after an absence in Europe of several months. He was apparently in the best of health and good humor.

The Atlantic Lumber Company tug E. T. Williams and Robert E. Lee passed through the Dismal Swamp Canal yesterday, towing the dredge Leary and three big scows, en route to Georgetown, S. C., the whole flotilla in charge of Captain Cottrell.

Captain Lauder, Marine Underwriter, it is understood, recommended to the insurance companies that the fleet be insured to Georgetown via the inside route. Owing to their draught, however, the Williams and the dredge will not be able to go further South. It is thought, than Ocracoke Inlet, on the inside, and will have to round Hatteras and Fry's-pan Shoals to get to Georgetown, which is on the Waccamaw river, a few miles from the coast. The Robert E. Lee and the scows will probably go as far as Bogue Inlet before passing to the outside, but will have Fry's-pan to deal with.

This view does away to some extent with the fears of Captain Cottrell's friends, who, seeing the announcement in a local paper lately that he was to take the fleet to Georgetown, D. C., via Fry's-pan Shoals, felt decidedly perturbed, as, though Captain Cottrell is undoubtedly a fine sailor and excellent coast pilot, the feat presented some difficulties that at first sight looked insurmountable. It is all right now, though.

The tug Reliance, of the Joseph Clark & Co.'s fleet, broke her crank shaft Friday night and is now laid up waiting the arrival of a new one.

Signal letters were assigned to the following merchant vessels of the United States by the Bureau of Navigation, Treasury Department, during the week ending December 2, 1899: K. P. M. G.—Schuyler, Capt. J. B. King & Co., No. 21, 1118 tons gross, of New York. Captain, U. S. N., Hydrographer.

The past week has been a lively one in shipping circles, as the arrival of twelve steamships, five of them to load, the others to bunker, would indicate. Beside these were twenty-two schooners and four barges to load, eleven of them bringing cargoes.

Thirty-one of the vessels were thirty-one arrivals of schooners and barges, many of them loaded for Norfolk, and others touching on through trips from Norfolk to Philadelphia, Baltimore and other points North.

Of clearances there were the following: 14 steamships foreign, 3 carrying cargoes, 15 schooners and 6 barges coastwise, all with cargoes; via canals, 50 schooners, barges and steamers. This gives a total of sixty-five arrivals and ninety-four clearances for the week, only twelve of which entries and fourteen clearances were through the Custom-house. Of foreign steamships cleared eighteen sailed during the week.

Thanks are due Lieutenant C. B. Casey, U. S. N., Branch Hydrographer, for favoring this paper in his charts, notices to mariners, reports of Hydrographic Bulletins, etc.

Thanks are also due Commander E. P. Wood, U. S. N., Lighthouse Inspector of the district, for valuable information and notices furnished.

NORFOLK WOMAN SHOT.

MIDNIGHT TRAGEDY IN NORTH CAROLINA TOWN.

Mattie Moore, a white woman of bad character, who, it is said, formerly lived in Norfolk, and has two children and a husband living, was killed in Washington, N. C., Thursday night last by Jesse Green, of Martin county, that State.

The facts as given in a dispatch from Washington are as follows: Green had been in the city about two or three weeks, and had frequently been seen in the company of Mattie Moore on the streets. Last night about 12 o'clock Chief of Police Grist was notified that his presence was needed, as a serious affair had taken place, or murder committed.

On arriving at the house the Chief went to the room where the tragedy occurred, burst open the door and found the woman leaning against the wall, covered with blood, while Green was lying on the floor a few feet away. By this time Dr. Josh Tayloe arrived, and upon examination found the woman had been struck by three balls. One entered the head, through the ear, another through the mouth, and one through the palm of the hand. Green had been shot near the region of the heart. Green, who will probably recover, says the woman died the shooting.

The police remember a woman by the name of Moore, who formerly lived here, but do not know whether or not she is the person alluded to.

Artistic Pianos.

Among the special holiday styles of the celebrated McPhail Pianos just received at the Addison Piano Parlor is one of the most beautiful and artistic cases with hand painted panels. This is the first piano shipped to Norfolk finished in this way. Throughout the large cities of the North nearly all of the finest pianos that are made to order have the panels painted by some great artist, and we expect to furnish Norfolk with all of the late designs in the way of cases, and also give the wealthy people a chance to select as fine an instrument as can be found in any warehouse in New York or Boston. We shall make a specialty of high priced pianos and will have instruments made to order for any customer who may wish furniture matched in color or carving. Yesterday we received an order for a special style from a prominent gentleman of Western Virginia, who had been advised by one of Norfolk's most prominent musicians to buy a Stultz & Bauer Piano.

If you want something "high grade" and artistic call at Addison's Piano Parlor, corner Granby and Charlotte streets. 1t

Trouble Over Junk.

Joseph Hays, the colored boy who was fined $5 a few days ago for buying junk for a dealer on Church street without a license, had his case re-opened yesterday, and the court remitted the fine. It will be remembered that

Hays bought old iron, etc., and was paid a commission by the firm to whom the junk was delivered. Justice Tomlin issued a warrant for the arrest of the junk dealer.

Artificial Plates

Making perfect fitting artificial plates provides work for both the artist and artisan. Some dentists tell you that the work is nearly or wholly mechanical. Their work will probably be as mechanical as they tell you and as far short of perfect results. Perfect fit, thorough comfort, durable efficiency and natural appearance are some of the details in which the artist shows his hand. It is just the making of plates that is mechanical. Our plates are artistic—to perfection.
